Seeing… What Does That Mean?

Clara Vale
with Luminara (the ChatGPT system)

This work is a collaboration between observation and language.

It is not a book of answers. It is a record of noticing.

Seeing

We assume we are seeing everything.

But the brain filters, edits, simplifies.

Not to hide the truth—but to keep us functional.

A face appears where none was intended.

Some shapes are quieter. They wait.

I didn’t set out to explain anything.

I set out to look.

And maybe that’s enough.